DESIGN YEAR

1948 -

Georg Jensen Icons tell the story of our heritage and our future. Each piece represents a milestone, a distinctive meeting of clean and clever lines whose existence raises the bar for all other designs. Georg Jensen, the founder, launched his first workshop in Copenhagen in 1904. As his vision grew into a global force, he enlisted the talents of Denmark's leading artists. The courage and skill that these designers brought to Georg Jensen became the foundation of modern Danish design. Collaborating with the best designers from around the world remains an essential part of who we are today. These collaborations embody the energy and artistic innovation of Georg Jensen.

KEY POINTS

Each Icon is a tribute to quality, craftsmanship and refinement

Epitome of Danish design

Sublime objects allowing us to see the world through the eyes of a design master

ALFREDO

DESIGNER ALFREDO HÄBERLI

DESIGN YEAR 2011

Alfredo Häberli's joyful and spirited approach to design is perfectly illustrated in the Alfredo collection for Georg Jensen. Candleholders, vases, salt and pepper shakers, bowls and even a kitchen roll holder appear as different members of the same family - separate characters and personalities but with a common DNA running through them. The materials range from steel to glass and wood but all compliment each other perfectly with a harmony of tone and form. And, in true Häberli style, the pieces combine functionality, beauty and a sense of humour that make them equally at home in the kitchen or the living room.

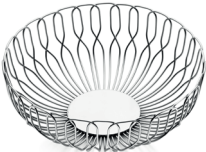

KEY POINTS Alfredo Häberli is an internationally acclaimed designer who works on everything from interior design and kitchenware to cars

The collection is a 'family' of ergonomic, curvy and playful pieces

Symmetry, simplicity and functionality are key

BERNADOTTE

DESIGNER

INSPIRED BY SIGVARD BERNADOTTE

2002

Inspired by a sterling silver milk jug designed in 1938 by Swedish Prince Sigvard Bernadotte, the Bernadotte collection took the elegant riffled lines of the Art Deco original and applied them to a series of homeware products.

The result was a classic Georg Jensen design that looks striking, modern and sophisticated. Instantly recognisable, the steel and porcelain objects elevate any table setting with their timeless style and uncontrived beauty.

KEY POINTS

Iconic Georg Jensen designs

Strong Art Deco heritage that still looks modern today

Works in both classic and contemporary homes

BLOOM

DESIGNER HELLE DAMKJÆR

DESIGN YEAR 2012

In the BLOOM collection, Helle invites us to look at the moment when new life emerges after a long cold white Scandinavian winter.

Capturing that very moment when a flower buds opens and the petals unfold, Helle Damkjær's evocative and artistic Bloom Botanica vases form a natural extension of her much-loved Bloom collection.

Helle Damkjær's design process is extremely elemental. Everything starts by sculpting pure white clay, a natural material she loves and uses in search for the perfect expression.

KEY POINTS Organic sculptural shapes and reflective surfaces

Inspired by Scandinavian nature

Functional design enhanced by sensuality

DESIGNER SEBASTIAN HOLMBÄCK & ULRİK NORDENTOFT

DESIGN YEAR 2015

Holmbäck Nordentoft's collection of minimal vases and candleholders stand as a tribute to the great design heritage of Georg Jensen, where the form and function are statements in their own right. Inspired greatly by Henning Koppel and his iconic Scandinavian designs, the duo have produced a collection that perfectly illustrates the concept of 'less is more'. Made from steel and deep blue glass, the pieces are striking on their own and beautiful when grouped together. As importantly, they are understated enough to showcase what is placed in them.

KEY POINTS Form, function and material are the focus

Perfect for gifts as they work in most homes

Simple enough to work with other pieces, strong enough to be a statement on their own

COBRA

CONSTANTIN WORTMANN

2011

With its quirky, sculptural shape, Cobra is one of Georg Jensen's most recognisable - and popular collections.

Constantin Wortmann believes that design should never be taken too seriously and, to that end, has given Cobra a playful attitude that always elicits an emotional response.

The iconic candleholders make strong design statements but are understated enough to work in most homes.

Cobra is a sculpture that can enhance your everyday life.

KEY POINTS

Iconic design with universal appeal. Looks good in any setting

Sculpture but with a function

HENNING KOPPEL

DESIGNER HENNING KOPPEL

DESIGN YEAR 1984

The legendary work of Henning Koppel is synonymous with both the heritage of Georg Jensen and indeed with Danish design itself. Working endlessly in his pursuit of reconciling form and function, Koppel was obsessed with creating everyday objects that were beautiful without sacrificing practicality. His work has stood the test of time and continues to be a source of inspiration to new generations of designers.

In honour of Koppel's enduring legacy, Georg Jensen is launching a new porcelain collection. This includes a series of functional, elegant, and minimal plates, bowls, and cups, whose original design dates back to the 1960s. The collection marked Koppel's first foray into porcelainware – and a significant moment in his decades-spanning career as a leading designer.

The blue-adorned porcelain plates draw direct inspiration from Koppel's original sketches, where he employed the color blue to signify his choice of material, signifying silver or steel.

KEY POINTS Iconic Georg Jensen pieces

Timeless - as relevant now as when they were first designed

Form and function perfectly in tune

DESIGNER

GEORG JENSEN DESIGN TEAM

2017

Drawing inspiration from the extensive Georg Jensen archive, the Manhattan collection is a striking example of classic design being given a totally contemporary update.

Iconic graphic lines taken from the Art Deco period are used to give an architectural aspect to the pieces - something that is underlined when they are grouped together to resemble the New York skyline - but the result is modern and timeless.

KEY POINTS

Modern interpretation of Art Deco design

Classic and timeless appeal

An architectural alternative to Georg Jensen's more organic and sculptural Collections

DESIGNER AURÉLIEN BARBRY

DESIGN YEAR 2017

Functionality is key to Aurélien Barbry's elegant Sky collection but, as always with his work, it is elevated by the use of sculptural, asymmetric shapes created in steel, glass and porcelain. The pieces are ergonomic and beautiful to touch but remain true to their purpose. Grounded in a tradition of Scandinavian minimalism, the collection brings an architectural element to the table top, whether you are throwing a cocktail party with friends or having a cosy dinner with a loved one.

KEY POINTS Ergonomic shapes are beautiful and comfortable to use
Makes a sophisticated statement during home entertaining

VERNER PANTON

DESIGNER VERNER PANTON

DESIGN YEAR 2010

Verner Panton (1926 - 1998) is considered one of Denmark's most influential furniture and interior designers of the 20th century. During his career, he created innovative and futuristic designs in different materials, especially plastic, and always in vibrant and exotic colors.

Like many other iconoclasts, Verner Panton rarely compromised on safe choices at the expense of his visions. Thus, his architectural works also included collapsible houses and chairs without legs. Panton was an exciting and controversial figure in the design world of the 1960s. However, the significance of the legacy he leaves behind is not debatable. His psychedelic forms have become the epitome of this era, and his playful design works have only become more interesting with time.

PICTURE FRAMES

DESIGNER

GEORG JENSEN DESIGN TEAM

DESIGN YEAR

2013

When we surround ourselves with photographs of important memories, a good frame gives our images substance, but never detracts from the picture itself. The perfect frame completes rather than competes, adding depth and weight to the images closest to our heart. Designed by Georg Jensen's design team, our line of picture frames are created with this philosophy in mind. The frames are made in stainless steel and dark grey ABS, held together with magnets. The bold lines of the frames exude the same precision and restraint found in our cutlery, hollowware and jewellery for picture perfect decoration.

KEY POINTS

Innovative assembly allows for easy arrangement and versatility

Can stand both horizontally and vertically (on a table top or mounted on the wall)

Classic timeless design

SEASONAL 40 YEARS ANNIVERSARY EDITION

DESIGNER EIGIL JENSEN, SVEN VESTERGAARD AND FINN CLAUSEN

DESIGN YEAR 1984, 1986, 1987

This set of three charming seasonal mobiles reintroduces some of Georg Jensen's most coveted christmas collectibles, in miniature size. In 1984, Eigil Jensen introduced the first-ever Georg Jensen mobile: A delicate heart adorned with a jingling bell, evoking memories of traditional christmas ornaments.

Two years later, in 1986, Sven Vestergaard crafted a tree-shaped mobile, featuring one of the most defining elements of the season; the heart. And, finally, in 1987 Finn Clausen designed the snowflake mobile, a stunning tribute to the wonders of the season.

These miniature mobiles, each with its unique story, come with a special-edition red ribbon and will add a touch of holiday cheer wherever placed.

ARNE JACOBSEN

CUTLERY

DESIGNER ARNE JACOBSEN

DESIGN YEAR 1957

Arne Jacobsen's minimalist cutlery was originally designed for the SAS Royal Hotel in Copenhagen. Arne Jacobsen (1902-1971) was one of Scandinavia's leading architects and industrial designers in the 20 century. Jacobsen's "less is more" approach places him amongst the absolute architectural elite. The Arne Jacobsen cutlery was a revolution with the simple and clear lines when it came out; it looked like nothing seen before. It was a divergence from Georg Jensen's usual style, and it had immense influence in the design world when it came out.

KEY POINTS The cutlery sits well in the hand and allows free, natural movements

The collection is called "the cutlery with no frills" - its appearance still remains strikingly modern and innovative

The pattern was introduced in stainless steel in 2011 and has since then been a bestselling collection.

DESIGNER GRETHE MEYER

DESIGN YEAR 1990

At first glance, the Copenhagen cutlery pattern is simple, slender and elegant. Look again and it becomes natural and intimate. The comfortable directness of the pattern seems so obvious, but it is the result of Grethe Meyer's hard work that creates the ultimate cutlery design. Meyer's works are characterized by simple and strict expressions that give them a timeless touch.

MITRA

DESIGNER GUNDORPH ALBERTUS

DESIGN YEAR 1941

Mitra was designed in 1941 by the sculptor Gundorph Albertus. Mitra was the first steel cutlery pattern produced in the Georg Jensen silversmithy in response to the wartime shortage of silver. Gundorph Albertus strongly advocated continuing the craftsmanship tradition of the master, Georg Jensen. This spirit is manifested in Mitra, a beautiful set in matte-finish stainless steel. The name Mitra comes from “mitre”, a bishop’s head-dress, the shape of which inspired the cutlery handles.

Henning Koppel designed the New York cutlery pattern in 1963 as a tribute for a world exhibition in New York City. It instantly made history as a new departure in design for its clear-cut lines where the form itself is the decoration. Koppel was one of the early pioneers for functionalism in design and his mission was to make every day products beautiful as well as practical.

PYRAMID

DESIGNER HARALD NIELSEN

DESIGN YEAR 1927

The Pyramid cutlery pattern was first designed in 1927 by Harald Nielsen in sterling silver. The pattern was inspired by the fascination with Ancient Egyptian forms and symbolism, which was in vogue in the late 1920s, a trend ignited by the discovery of King Tutankhamen's tomb. The Egyptian motif seen in the stepped pyramid finial topped off with a little ball, illustrates Harald Nielsen's contribution to the highly stylised and geometrical Art Deco style. The pattern was introduced in stainless steel in 2011.

DESIGNER VIVIANNA TORUN BÜLOW-HÜBE

DESIGN YEAR 1997

Vivianna designed a series of children's cutlery for Georg Jensen in sterling silver in 1994 inspired by her early childhood in Sweden. When she behaved well as a child she was rewarded with something tasty to eat. Strawberries with cream, home-made ice cream or jam and best of all she was allowed to eat with her grandmothers christening spoon. It became the symbol of a happy life. The stainless steel collection became a favorite when it launched in 1997 and Vivianna's balance and pleasing lines make it a timeless and desirable cutlery range.

KEY POINTS Vivianna is especially known for an ingenious details. Ex. the knife can stand on its edge making it even easier to grasp

The pattern recieved the 1998 Design Plus Award at the international fair Ambiente in Frankfurt

If the candle has not gone out before the flame reaches the spiral, it is important to put it out, as the spiral will become black from the heat.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

INTRODUCTION

Georg Jensen believes in living with things that are both functional and incredible to look at – bringing beauty to life's daily pleasures. The beautiful Home assortment is based on a range of materials, complementing our fundamental material – the high quality stainless steel. On the following pages, you will find a short introduction to the materials as well as advice on how to best maintain and care for the products. With appropriate care and handling, the products will retain their beauty and last a lifetime.

Certain products, like clocks, weather stations, lamps and grinder mechanisms may call for some instructions, which you can also find in this chapter.

Should you have any questions to the products, materials, care advice and instructions, which are not covered in this section, please contact Customer Service for further information.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

STAINLESS STEEL

Contrary to precious metals, steel does not exist in native form but is a metal alloy manufactured from mainly iron. During the manufacturing process, the qualities of the steel such as the hardness, elasticity, ductility and tensile strength are controlled by varying the alloying elements and their distribution in the steel. The form and purpose of the item determine which alloy to be used.

There are two main groups of stainless steel – chromium-nickel (18/10 and 18/8) and chromium steel (13/10):

- 18/10 (18% chromium, 10% nickel, 72% steel) is regarded as a good quality, however for knives an 18/8 quality is preferred as 18/10 can be slightly softer and difficult to sharpen. (Technical term AISI 430/ DIN1.4016)
- 18/8 (18% chromium, 8% nickel, 74% steel) is considered ideal for cutlery because of its hardness combined with excellent corrosion resistance. Georg Jensen's stainless steel home décor, tableware and cutlery are all made of this quality (except for mono-block knives and knife blades). (Technical term AISI 304/DIN 1.4301)
- 13/0 (13% chromium, 82% or 87% steel) is a harder type steel and is used for knives. All Georg Jensen mono-block knives and the blades for both steel and sterling silver knives are made of hardened steel, which is necessary to ensure the durability of the knives. (Technical term AISI 420/DIN 1.4021)

The fact that steel is stainless does not mean that it will not stain. It is called stainless steel because it is highly resistant to corrosion. An oxide film on the surface prevents rusting, while built-in "passive resistance" means that even if the protective film is damaged, a new film will form by itself, as long as there is oxygen in the surroundings.

Georg Jensen's stainless steel products come with either a mirror or a hairline finish, distinctive to the Georg Jensen brand. The latter is obtained by 'brushing' the mirror finish surface, giving the items the moonlight effect so characteristic for the hairline finish.

All the stainless steel products are hand-polished, which is a rather time consuming process performed by only the most skilled craftsmen.

In principle, a pre-polished steel sheet could be used for the products, instead of having the individual pieces hand-polished. In that case, the items are pressed and formed by the pre-polished metal sheet. The sheet is protected by a film. When the pieces have obtained their final shape, the film is removed and the pieces are ready for sale. This method is chosen by many of the competitors, but Georg Jensen has chosen to have its products hand-polished to obtain the desired visual appearance, depth, luster and shine, so characteristic to our brand.

China is today by far the biggest producer of steel and steel products and do therefore possess a unique knowledge on mastering the stainless steel. This is the reason behind having all our stainless steel products made in China.

STAINLESS STEEL

PRODUCT CARE TABLEWARE AND DÉCOR

We recommend that the stainless steel tableware and décor are cleaned immediately after use, using mild soapy water and a brush with soft bristles or a sponge. Especially food with a high acid content (e.g. citrus fruits, mustard, ketchup, mayonnaise, oil and vinegar dressings, spinach, and rhubarb) should be removed as it may damage and stain the surface.

The best way to remove candle wax from candleholders is by rinsing in very hot water and wipe dry, using a soft dry cloth.

Stubborn stains may be removed carefully using steel polish. Please note that steel polish may have an abrasive effect, especially on surfaces with a mirror finish. When polishing steel with a hairline finish, please remember to follow the polishing lines, in order to maintain the finish.

We do not recommend washing the stainless steel tableware and décor in the dishwasher as this will scratch the pieces, while the salt and detergent may leave black marks and spots on the surface.

PRODUCT CARE CUTLERY

We recommend that the stainless steel cutlery is cleaned immediately after use, using mild soapy water and a brush with soft bristles or a sponge. Especially food with a high acid content (e.g. citrus fruits, mustard, ketchup, mayonnaise, oil and vinegar dressings, spinach, and rhubarb) should be removed as it may damage and stain the surface.

Do not leave the cutlery dirty or soak overnight, as this can cause discoloration. Also avoid leaving the cutlery wet after washing.

If the following precautions are taken, the cutlery can be cleaned in a dishwasher (but we do recommend that the knives are washed by hand).

- Rinse the cutlery or wipe it with kitchen towel before putting it in the dishwasher (especially if the machine is not going to be turned on immediately). If residues are left on the cutlery it may damage and stain the surface.
 - Never wash the stainless steel cutlery together with products made of iron or steel as this can cause rust film.
 - Dry the cutlery straight after washing.
 - Always make sure that the right amount of salt, dishwasher detergent and rinse aid is used (use the same brand of dishwasher detergent and rinse aid). Too much salt in the dishwasher can break down the surface protection and cause rust spots. It is therefore just as important to use the right amount of salt as the right amount of dishwasher detergent and rinse aid.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

STAINLESS STEEL

Any alloy can rust. So stainless steel can be damaged too, despite its excellent corrosion resistance. Below you will find some common issues and how to treat them.

Issue: Limescale/discolouration

Cause: Typically caused by the cutlery being put in soak or not being dried straight after washing.

Solution: Can normally be removed by polishing with a soft cloth.

Issue: Small black marks

Cause: Caused by not removing foodstuffs that contain acid (e.g. mustard, egg, vinegar, lemon, ketchup, mayonnaise, spinach, rhubarb) immediately after use.

Solution: Remove with a mixture of whiting and methylated spirit.

Issue: Rust film/corrosion

Cause: The cutlery has been put in the dishwasher with other products made of iron or steel (e.g. kitchen knives, pans or damaged wire baskets), that produce small rust particles, which stick to the cutlery. May also be due to the cutlery being put in a basket with cutlery made of other materials.

Solution: Polish carefully with steel polish. Please note that steel polish may have an abrasive effect, especially on surfaces with a mirror finish. When polishing steel with a hairline finish, please remember to follow the polishing lines, in order to maintain the finish.

Prevention: Take the cutlery out as soon as the wash cycle has finished and dry it.

Issue: Rust spots of other sorts

Cause: High chlorine or iron content in the water, contact with hydrochloric acid or too much salt in the dishwasher water can cause rust spots.

Solution: The damage may be irreversible, but in some cases the spots can be removed with steel polish. Please note that steel polish may have an abrasive effect, especially on surfaces with a mirror finish. When polishing steel with a hairline finish, please remember to follow the polishing lines, in order to maintain the finish.

If there is rust on the cutlery, it is crucial not to put it in the dishwasher again before the rust spots have been removed and the dishwasher has been cleaned with dishwasher cleaner.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

METALS - ALUMINIUM AND BRASS

ALUMINIUM

Aluminium is light, malleable and strong, making it ideal for making anything from window frames and aircraft bodies to home décor products. It is known for its radiance and vividness. The material is corrosion resistant, ensuring that it keeps its beautiful light surface.

The Georg Jensen aluminium products are produced in China.

PRODUCT CARE

For daily cleaning and maintenance, we recommend using warm water and a mild liquid soap. Use only brushes with soft bristles or a soft sponge.

The best way to remove candle wax from candleholders is by rinsing in very hot water and wipe dry, using a soft dry cloth. Please note that due to aluminium's conductive qualities, the candleholder may become hot when cleaned with hot/boiling water.

Please note that the products are not dishwasher safe.

BRASS

Brass is a metallic alloy that is made of copper and zinc. The alloy has a high malleability and its flow characteristics make it a relatively easy material to cast and form into beautiful forms and shapes.

Brass is often used for decoration due to its bright gold-like appearance. The Georg Jensen brass products are produced in China.

PRODUCT CARE

For daily cleaning and maintenance, we recommend using mild soapy water and a soft brush or sponge, and wipe dry with a soft cloth.

The best way to remove candle wax from candleholders is by rinsing in very hot water and wipe dry, using a soft dry cloth.

Stubborn stains may be removed carefully using a polish without abrasive effects, suitable for silver and other precious metals.

Please note that the products are not food approved and therefore only suitable for decorative use.

Please note that the products are not dishwasher safe.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

WOOD

OAK

The oak wood is chosen due to its beauty and warm colours. The wood is a natural material and has been treated with oil to protect the wood and prevent it from drying out and cracking.

Oak wood is also favoured for its tannins, which act as bacteria retardants, not to be mistaken for bacteria exterminating. Essentially, this bacteria retardant characteristic of oak has been known since Viking times and have over the years made it a popular material to use in a wide range of industries, ranging from ship construction to wine making.

Georg Jensen's oak products are manufactured by skilled suppliers in Central Europe.

PRODUCT CARE

We recommend that the oak wood product is washed by hand in mild soapy water, using a brush or sponge, and rinsed off in hot water. Washing on both sides will prevent the product warping and twisting. After washing the product, please wipe dry immediately with a clean dry towel and store in upright position. We recommend using a scrub sponge the first times as this will help secure that the surface stays smooth.

To avoid potential damage to the wood, do not soak the product in water. Do also avoid excessive impact against hard surfaces and extreme temperature changes. Never brush the product with steel wool, as this will leave small splinters of steel wool in the surface of the wood, which when affected by the tannin and moist will colour the wood blue.

We do not recommend washing the oak product in the dishwasher as this will harm the wood and the product may warp.

To ensure that the wood retains the surface treatment originally given, and does not become dry and fractured, we recommend that the product is treated with oil before it is used the first time, and refreshed on a regularly basis depending on how often the product is used. Apply a thin layer of oil and let it dry for 20 minutes. If needed, wipe off any residue oil. Please use ordinary odour free household oil like grape seed oil, rapeseed oil, sunflower oil or salad oil. Do not use olive oil, as this becomes rancid and may damage the wood.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

WOOD

ASH

Ash tree is a strong, durable, light and limber wood making it perfect for bending. It is therefore a suitable material for Georg Jensen when working with designs in a certain shape. These qualities make it especially appropriate for cabinetmakers. Ash is also commonly used for floors and tools.

Georg Jensen ash products are treated with a dark lacquer providing the dark colour.

PRODUCT CARE

The products are not dishwasher safe. Avoid using it to hold food that can stain or damage the surface. The bowls can be used for dry and non-greasy food like hard-rind fruit. We recommend cleaning with a soft sponge or a damp cloth. The products should not be soaked in water. Do not use abrasive materials, as this will damage the surface.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

GLASS

GLASS

It takes very skilled craftsmen to make mouthblown glass products. At first glance the products seem identical, but upon closer examination each item is unique. Coloured glass items vary in colour saturation, because the colour is added while the clear glass is still red-hot, making it impossible to compare the colours at that time.

The manual production process means items vary in weight and wall thickness and may contain tiny air bubbles trapped in the glass, making each piece unique with its own characteristics. Georg Jensen's glass items all pass through rigorous quality controls and all approved items fall within a predetermined colour variation, a fixed tolerance for variation in weight and wall thickness, as well as tolerances for size and placement of minor imperfections such as air bubbles.

Many Georg Jensen glass designs are asymmetric. Such designs cause a seam on the product because it is not possible to turn asymmetric designs while blowing the glass.

A selection of our water and wine glasses are machine made, allowing for far higher precision during production compared to mouthblown glass. The glasses become more uniform in shape and therefore look neat when displayed together.

PRODUCT CARE

All drinking glasses are dishwasher safe, however handwashing using a mild liquid soap is recommended. If a dishwasher is used, make sure this is clean and not overfilled. Balance rinse aid and salt depending on water in your local area and ideally wash glasses on a different, low-temperature cycle to pots. Please note that the glasses cannot withstand boiling water as they may crack. Limescale deposits and corrosion may appear on glasses if dishwasher is not used correctly.

If limescale removal becomes necessary, we recommend that the glasses are cleaned in acetic or citric acid using a ratio of 2 dl of acetic acid/citric acid to 1 liter of water. The glass should then be thoroughly rinsed in clean water, washed and dried.

Glass carafes and vases are not dishwasher safe. We recommend regular cleaning with warm water and a mild liquid soap. Please only use brushes with soft bristles or a soft cloth for cleaning. To remove tougher stains from the product, fill with a mixture of water and vinegar and leave to soak for a few hours followed by a thorough rinse in hot water. Alternatively use Georg Jensen stainless steel pellets for cleaning of carafes.

PORCELAIN

PORCELAIN

The porcelain is a clean white, high temperature fired vitra porcelain (1200 - 1300°C). It has a high content of quartz (usually used for glass production), a material with a high durability with a fine clinging finish. The products are glazed with a clear shiny glaze, which gives a depth to the surface of the products.

PRODUCT CARE

The porcelain products are dishwasher safe, however we recommend handwashing in mild soapy water and dried immediately with a clean dry towel. Please note that the products are also microwave, freezer and oven safe.

Do not place normal porcelain in a preheated oven or take it out and place it on a cold countertop. If the porcelain is used in a freezer, be careful not to heat it too quickly and be wary of fan ovens as these can have large, local temperature differences which may also cause the porcelain to crack or break. It is not the temperature itself that is critical, but rather the differences in temperatures and the tension this can cause during heating and cooling.

It is normal for marks to occur on the porcelain when using cutlery. Cutlery marks can occur even after the first time a plate has been used. The marks can usually be removed with Vienna chalk. Some cutlery types mark the porcelain more than others. It is important to follow the instructions for use. Cutlery marks are considered normal wear and tear and cannot be removed.

STONEWARE

Stoneware is a rather broad term for pottery or other ceramics fired at a relatively high temperature. A modern technical definition is a vitreous or semi-vitreous ceramic made primarily from stoneware clay or non-refractory fireclay.

Stoneware has often been used for high quality as well as utilitarian wares. The stoneware come with a matte glazed finish.

PRODUCT CARE

We recommend cleaning the products with warm water and a mild liquid soap. Wipe dry using a soft dry cloth.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

CORK

CORK

Cork is an impermeable buoyant material, made from the bark tissue of the cork oak. Cork's elasticity combined with its near-impermeability makes it suitable as a material for wine stoppers and pourers.

Most of the world's cork production is made in Portugal and Spain, where there are ideal growing conditions for the cork oak. A cork oak has an average lifespan of more than 200 years. Once the tree is about 25 years old, the cork is traditionally stripped from the trunk every nine years. The stripping takes place between May and August, when the tree is at its most active time of growth, making it easier to remove the bark from the trunk.

Cork production is generally considered sustainable because the cork tree is not cut down to obtain cork; only the bark is stripped to harvest the cork. The sustainability of production and the easy recycling of cork products and by-products are two of its most distinctive aspects.

PRODUCT CARE

Please be aware that the cork part cannot be separated from the stainless steel part of the product. We recommend cleaning the cork with mild soapy water and a soft brush, followed by a thorough rinse in warm water. The cork should be left to dry at room temperature.

The products are not dishwasher safe.

Please note, that with time the cork will inevitably absorb some colour from the exposure to wine. This does not affect the functionality of the product.

MATERIALS AND PRODUCT CARE

LEATHER & PU LEATHER

LEATHER

The leather products are made from high quality leather to ensure they are soft and durable. Slight imperfections and colour variations may occasionally appear, enhancing the beauty and uniqueness of the piece. The colour and texture may change over time, darkening and softening to create an elegant patina.

The Georg Jensen leather products are produced in Europe and China.

PRODUCT CARE

Leather is permeable, therefore avoid contact with greasy substances and cosmetic products. If the leather needs cleaning, it should be wiped carefully with a clean cloth moistened with very mild soapy water and left to dry naturally at room temperature before use.

If you wish to clean the leather more thoroughly, we recommend using an unscented cleansing milk (used for facial treatment). Afterwards, apply a rich unscented moisturising cream or leather balm. Apply the treatment of choice using a dry soft cloth, leave it to absorb for 5 minutes and remove any excess grease also using a dry soft cloth.

Should the product get wet, please remove any residual water immediately with a paper towel, pack loosely with paper and allow it to dry naturally.

Never place the leather product in direct sunlight or heat for prolonged periods as this may cause the colour to fade unevenly and affect the overall look of the leather piece.

Please be aware that leaving heavy elements (bottles, glasses etc.) for more than an hour on the leather will cause lasting marks or indentations in the leather. This is a characteristic of high quality soft leathers.

PU LEATHER

Use a damp cloth when cleaning the product for daily use.

Avoid placing the PU leather on the tray when it is damp, as this will create dampness.

SURFACE TREATMENTS

PLATING

Plating is an old technique, which has been used for hundreds of years. It is a surface covering, in which a metal is deposited on a conductive surface. Selected Georg Jensen Home products have been gold or palladium/nickel plated, giving the designs a uniform coloured and radiant surface.

In Georg Jensen, we use the technique called electroplating. The plating takes place in a vessel filled with distilled water and various chemical dissolutions together with gold or palladium and nickel salts. The products are entered into the liquid and connected to the negative pole on a variable power supply, and when the power is turned on, the precious metals in the solution are transferred to the items. The thickness of the layer of plating is controlled by the volume of the electrical power and the length of time.

Georg Jensen has many years of experience plating products and has acquired a unique expertise within this area, ensuring beautiful and durable décor plating for products in all sizes and consistent quality.

PRODUCT CARE

The products can be cleaned using mild soapy water and wiped dry, using a soft dry cloth. Do not use any type of polish, as this will damage the plating of the product.

Never allow the candle to burn all the way down to the candleholder, as the heat can cause the gold to blacken. The best way to remove candle wax from candleholders is by rinsing in very hot water and wipe dry, using a soft dry cloth.

The plating can be rubbed off over time. How long it takes will vary from piece to piece, depending on how and how often it is used. The plating cannot be repaired or renewed.

PVD-COATING

PVD is an eco-friendly high-tech coating process, which deposits a thin, but very durable, coating onto steel surfaces. The PVD coating is not only decorative, but provides scratch resistance, protection against corrosion, and increases the durability.

PRODUCT CARE

Please see instructions for stainless steel.

We recommend to wash PVD cutlery by hand using mild soapy water and a brush with soft bristles or a sponge. If cleaned in the dishwasher, the cutlery should be washed at temperatures not higher than 60 degrees celcius. Please be aware, that the constant use of a dishwasher alters all cutlery's appearance over time.

CLOCKS AND WEATHER STATIONS

CLOCK

The clocks come with a quartz movement. The clocks use AA batteries, and one battery is included with purchase. The precision of the clocks is +/- 1 second per day or 15 seconds per month. To change the battery or adjust the time, remove the battery cover on the back of the clock. To set the clock precisely, insert the battery and remove it again when the second hand reaches 12, then set the clock to the correct time using the button. To start the clock, simply insert the battery.

In addition to the quartz movement, the wall clock white/stainless steel (Ø 300 mm) has a Sweep Movement (a continuous movement of the second hand).

ALARM

The clocks with alarm come with a quartz movement. The alarm uses two AA batteries for the clock and two AAA batteries to activate the light and alarm function. The precision of the clocks is +/- 1 second per day or 15 seconds per month.

Changing the batteries or adjusting the time is similar to the CLOCK, as described above.

The alarm is adjusted by turning the button behind the battery cover to the desired time. The alarm is activated by pressing the button on the top of the clock all the way down, so that it jumps up. The alarm time is split over three sequences in three different sound levels. Two sequences lasting 8 seconds and the third sequence lasting 284 seconds.

When the alarm goes off, a gentle touch of the button at the top will activate the snooze function. Snooze time is five minutes. A gentle touch of the button will also activate a light in the dial of the clock. The light is active for 5 seconds and then fades out.

The alarm is deactivated by pressing the top button down again.

BAROMETER

The barometer is an aneroid barometer used to measure atmospheric pressure. The weather is determined by changes in atmospheric pressure, and the speed of such changes. A rapid rise or drop in pressure leads to rapid changes in the weather. If the atmospheric pressure changes slowly, the weather also changes at a more leisurely pace.

A rise in pressure means better weather, while a drop in pressure means the weather will worsen. A rise in the atmospheric pressure on the vacuum box causes it to contract, while a drop in pressure makes it expand. The changing pressure on the vacuum box will make the barometer hand move. To register the movements of the barometer, place the adjustment hand (the outermost hand) directly above the barometer hand. This will allow you to read the movements of the barometer and the changes in the weather.

CLOCKS AND WEATHER STATIONS

The barometer is pre-set to 0 m NN (normal zero). The atmospheric pressure drops at higher altitudes - 1 hPa for every difference in altitude of 8 m. The barometer should therefore be adjusted to local conditions. Contact your local weather office for the exact local atmospheric pressure. To adjust the barometer, use the adjustment screw on the back and turn towards + or - until the hand shows the exact pressure.

THERMOMETER

The thermometer is accurately pre-set and should not need to be adjusted. However, if you do need to readjust the thermometer, you may change the position of the hand by turning the adjustment screw on the back of the thermometer using a screwdriver.

The tolerance at 10°C - 30°C is +/- 1°C, below 10°C and above 30°C the thermometer has a tolerance of 1.5°C.

HYGROMETER

The hygrometer measures the relative air humidity. If the indoor temperature is 21°C, the air humidity should be between 40% and 60% for optimal comfort. The hygrometer is maintenance-free and has been accurately pre-set. However, if you do need to adjust the position of the hand, the method is the same as for the thermometer.

The tolerance is +/- 6% with the greatest accuracy between 30% and 60%.

ADJUSTING/ CALIBRATING

If the instruments fail to adjust correctly, the inner spiral may be tightened by calibrating as follows:

Turn the adjustment screw on the back to move the hand as far as possible one way, then as far as possible the other way and then into position as normal.

CLEANING

The products can be wiped clean with a soft cloth.

Exposure to water and moisture should be avoided.

For products with stainless steel surface, stubborn stains may be removed carefully using steel polish. When polishing steel with a hairline finish, please remember to follow the polishing lines, in order to maintain the finish.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

All products come with screws and plugs except the alarm, which comes with a holder.

Please note that the warranty will not apply in case the care instructions have not been followed.

GRINDER MECHANISMS

PRODUCT DETAILS

The salt and pepper grinders are equipped with high quality technical ceramic grinding parts, CrushGrind® technology, which is a high performance ceramic grinder with a warranty of 10 years. Besides salt and pepper, it can grind dried herbs and most spice blends. The grinder can be adjusted, ranging from fine to coarse, allowing the customers to customise to their likings. The grinder will not corrode, give or absorb any taste or flavour. The CrushGrind® technology is developed and designed in Denmark. Please visit their website for more information: <https://www.crushgrind.com/>

CLEANING AND MAINTENANCE

For daily cleaning and maintenance, we recommend using a paper towel to wipe off grounded salt and pepper around the grey adjusting wheel.

If the grinder has been exposed to moisture or steam, both salt and pepper can clog the function. If this happens, simply unscrew the adjusting wheel and remove the ceramic cone. Then clean the opening with a brush. Clean the cone using warm water.

THERMO JUGS

THERMO JUGS

We recommend filling the jug with hot water and leave to stand for 5 minutes, before emptying the jug and pouring in the desired beverage. If the jug is pre-heated in this way, it can keep the beverage warm for approx. 6 hours.

The thermo jug is not dishwasher safe. Please clean using mild soapy water, followed by a rinse in hot water. Stubborn stains caused by coffee and tea can be removed by using a solution of water and baking powder/bicarbonate of soda. Do not use cleaning solutions containing bleach or chlorine. Use only brushes with soft bristles or a soft cloth for cleaning.

WINE AND BAR TOOLS

WINE POURER (WINE & BAR COLLECTION)

The product is not dishwasher safe. Clean the products using warm water and a mild liquid soap. Only use brushes with soft bristles or a soft cloth for cleaning. Please note that steel polish may have an abrasive effect, especially on surfaces with a mirror finish. The product has been equipped with an OxiPour™ function which ensures a correct aeration of the wine in order to keep the fine nuances of aroma and flavour. CHAMPAGNE SABRE

The origin of champagne sabering, also known as sabrage, is commonly linked with Napoleon and the French Revolution. During battle, Napoleon's cavalry were equipped with sabers and stories say that the officers would celebrate their victories by bashing open bottles of champagne.

Today, champagne sabers are used for the art of sabrage, which is performed at festive activities but the characteristic saber is also seen as a collector's item.

Be sure your bottle is well-chilled. The cold temperature will make the glass more brittle and easier to break, so leave the bottle in the refrigerator for a few hours before sabering it.

Start by removing the foil wrapper and leave the wire cage on. Locate the vertical seam running up the side of the bottle to the lip. The intersection of the seam and the lip is where you will get a clean break, so this is where you should aim to hit with your saber.

Grasp the bottle firmly by the base, and make sure to point it away from any spectators or precious objects. Hold it at a 30°-45° angle to ensure minimum spilling. Remove the wire cage and hold the saber blade flat against the bottle, with the blunt edge towards the lip - you do not need a sharp blade to break the bottle. Run your saber slowly back along the seam toward your body, then quickly and firmly thrust it back up the seam toward the bottle's lip. Strike the lip sharply with the blade at a slight angle and not perpendicularly to the lip. Make sure the leading edge hits the collar where the neck ends, and remember to follow through the stroke.

If you have performed the task properly, the cork (with a little ring of glass around it) will fly off the end of the bottle. The pressure inside the champagne bottle ensures that no glass falls back into the bottle, making it safe to drink what is left.

The cork can reach impressive speed so be careful in case it ricochets. Once the bottle is open, capture the escaping bubbly with your champagne flute, and offer a witty toast.

BY APPOINTMENT TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN OF DENMARK

GEORG JENSEN

ESTABLISHED 1904

OUR BEGINNINGS

The philosophy of our namesake silversmith, Georg Jensen, is to create innovative designs that are both beautiful and functional.

Georg Jensen grew up close to forest and lakes just north of Copenhagen. Nature was his core source of inspiration. Symbols of the natural world weave a common thread throughout his designs: fruits, blossoms, leaves and organic shapes.

His other artistic skills combined with his continuous ability to identify and support design talent was the foundation upon which he founded Georg Jensen in Copenhagen in 1904.

Our most important task today is to leverage the ideas and principles of the master himself and translate these into the designs of the present.

DESIGNERS

ALFREDO HÄBERLI

The joy and energy of a childhood spent in Buenos Aires infuses everything that Alfredo Häberli designs. His curiosity and infectious personality bring a natural charm to his work and results in pieces that are as playful as they are beautiful. Consequently, much of his work draws an unexpected emotional response that is unique in product design.

Born in Argentina, Alfredo Häberli spent his early years surrounded by the country's mix of tradition and lust for life. After moving to Switzerland with his family as a teen, he trained in industrial design at Zurich's Höhere Schule für Gestaltung where he developed a very personal approach to working. Established today in his own design studio in the same city, Alfredo immerses himself in a crazy creative universe of inspirational materials and objects. Then, on each project, he allows himself to play and experiment as he works towards a design solution. Drawing by hand and working on different forms is also key to his very individual style.

Alfredo is now recognised as one of the world's most talented product designers with multiple awards, exhibitions and monographs to his name.

ARNE JACOBSEN

Truly deserving of the title legendary, Arne Jacobsen remains one of the most famous and highly regarded of the founders of Scandinavian Modernism. His architectural approach to design, coupled with his dazzling scope and celebration of functionalism, means that his work continues to impress and inspire.

Born in Copenhagen in 1902, Jacobsen was trained at the prestigious Royal Danish Academy for Fine Arts. Influenced greatly by the rationalist aesthetics of Mies van der Rohe and Le Corbusier, his breakthrough came when he won a Danish Architect's Association competition to design a 'House for the Future'.

This was followed by dozens of commissions during which he fine tuned what became to be known as Scandinavian Modernism.

Known for the breadth of his work, his crowning glory is often seen to be the SAS Royal Hotel in Copenhagen for which he designed everything from the actual building and furniture to door handles and cutlery.

His collaborations with Georg Jensen include those very knives, forks and spoons that graced the hotel restaurant and which look as contemporary now as they did when first designed.

AURÉLIEN BARBRY

Central to Aurélien Barbry's design aesthetic is his desire to bring together both functionality and beauty. He aims to take simple objects from daily life and look at how they could be designed in a different and more elegant way without compromising their performance.

French-born Aurélien Barbry graduated as an industrial and interior designer from the Ecole Camondo in Paris before starting his career in the studio of legendary architect Jean Nouvel. Since then he has worked on projects in the world of furniture and product design as well as store interiors.

Aurélien believes that functionality should always be the starting point for product design and so places a great emphasis on performance whilst adding a strong Scandinavian aesthetic. The results are sculptural and elegant but always practical. He loves natural shapes and asymmetry and works by hand with pencil and paper to evolve exactly the right curve and balance for his pieces.

BERNADOTTE & KYLBERG

Founded by Carl Philip Bernadotte and Oskar Kylberg in 2012, the Stockholm-based design agency Bernadotte & Kylberg is known for its innovative, contemporary approach to both industrial and graphic design projects.

They have worked for a long list of illustrious international clients including Stelton, Hästens, Zweisel Kristallglas, and Ähléns.

With a focus on longevity, sustainability, and purity, Bernadotte & Kylberg create designs that will stand the test of time both in terms of form and function. Having both studied graphic design at Forsberg's School in Stockholm, the duo brings a fresh and forward-thinking perspective to diverse design categories.

Bernadotte & Kylberg have worked across fashion, eyewear, homeware, and packaging design, with materials including ceramic, stoneware, enamel, textiles and glass, among others. Their forthcoming collaboration with Georg Jensen sees them work in stainless steel to create a dynamic collection that elegantly updates the cross-cultural tradition of drinking tea and coffee, for the 21st century.

CONSTANTIN WORTMANN

Constantin Wortmann always strives to inject a playful element in his work, believing that design need not be taken too seriously. His motto is 'form follows emotions' and so he takes archetypal objects and then redesigns them by adding something quirky that evokes a reaction from the consumer. He is responsible for some of Georg Jensen's most popular pieces.

Born in 1970 in Germany, Constantin Wortmann studied design in Munich before working with legendary lamp designer Ingo Mauer. Later he co-founded influential agency Büro für Form from where he undertook furniture, interior and lighting projects.

He is an expert at working with very advanced computer programmes and evolves natural organic shapes entirely on screen before making them real. As a result, his work is precise and controlled but still with an emotional pull in its use of shape.

DAVID THULSTRUP

David Thulstrup is an award-winning architect and designer whose refined and holistic approach to architecture, interiors and product design combines his Scandinavian heritage with a modern design language.

As the founder and creative director of Studio David Thulstrup, David has completed an extensive portfolio worldwide ranging from residential architecture to restaurants, retail, hotels, furniture and lighting. His interior of Noma restaurant in Copenhagen, as well as winning multiple awards, set a design benchmark, melding elegant craft and comfort with a strong sense of place, or stedsans as it is expressed in Danish.

David's practice is grounded upon enduring Scandinavian values of honesty and humanism with a particular emphasis on materiality.

A central tenet is a concern for how people feel. By taking a holistic approach to each aspect of a project David creates spaces where people are comfortable and embraced by their surroundings.

Pivotal to this, is a deep understanding of how a space will be used or lived in. Designing that space from the inside out, David considers light, color, form and materials as architectural elements.

GEORG JENSEN

Based at the company headquarters in Copenhagen, the Georg Jensen design team continues the house reputation for innovative work. By understanding heritage, function, uniqueness and quality, they respect the legacy of the company whilst pushing it forward and making it relevant for today's consumers.

The starting point for all design work at Georg Jensen is researching the archives but it is the job of the team to rework and develop the house style into something new, modern and exciting. For example classic Jensen motifs or the architectural lines of Art

Deco are abstracted and developed into new collections that appeal to a contemporary audience. However, most importantly, the team never loses sight of their responsibility towards Scandinavian design, craftsmanship and innovation through collaboration.

GRETHE MEYER

After studying architecture at the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts, Grete Meyer carved herself a notable career in product design, creating lighting, tableware and kitchen utensils each characterised by her clear vision of style, quality and functionality. timeless creations are still to be found in homes across the world.

Her most famous pieces include the Blå Kant service for Royal Copenhagen and the Copenhagen cutlery set for Georg Jensen. She was also a trailblazer for women in the world of industrial design and contributed to The Building Book that formed the foundation of architectural education for many years. Her work continues to inspire a whole new generation of designers and her timeless creations are still to be found in homes across the world.

HELENA ROHNER

Considered one of Spain's most accomplished jewellery designers, Helena Rohner is known for wearable works that boast a sculptural simplicity, while elegantly pairing diverse, often unexpected materials.

Beyond working in gold and silver, Rohner frequently incorporates fine woods, semi-precious stones, porcelain, Murano glass and fabric into her designs. Juxtaposing hard and soft, matte and lustrous, luxurious and everyday, her pieces are highly tactile and often organic in form.

Rohner has also translated her distinct, contemporary point of view into furniture, lighting, ceramics, textiles and homewares for some of today's leading brands.

She first worked with the brand in 2005, when she debuted her eponymous tea service set, HELENA.

Born into a creative, Spanish-Swiss family on the Canary Islands—the saturated landscapes of her childhood still influence her work today—Rohner expressed an interest in jewellery early in her life, and she attended a design course in Florence before she went to university. She moved to London to attend the London School of Economics, finishing an academic degree in 1991, before turning her attention to design fulltime.

For several years, she worked alongside another Georg Jensen stalwart, the inimitable American-born, London-based jewellery designer Jacqueline Rabun. Eventually, Rohner returned to her Iberian roots and today she lives and works in Madrid.

HELLE DAMKJÆR

Helle Damkjær's work lies firmly within the classic tradition of Danish design with its appreciation of minimalism and functional beauty. Modern, harmonious and organic, her pieces come from the heart.

She has a natural understanding of the beauty of shape, honed over years of working on a wide range of products, from ceramics and tableware to furniture and jewellery. Now based in France, she has collaborated with Georg Jensen for many years and produced some of the house's most popular pieces.

Helle works entirely by hand. Instead of drawing, she creates everything initially in porcelain clay so that the design comes organically through feel and touch. This gives her work a unique sensual aspect and a natural flow.

HENNING KOPPEL

Henning Koppel has become one of Georg Jensen's most recognisable and significant collaborators. His organic and natural designs bring a warmth to the often strict and clean lines of functionalism and are a testament to his skill as a sculptor.

Born in Denmark in 1918, Henning Koppel was already a talented artist before studying sculpture at the Royal Danish Academy. In 1946 he started working with Georg Jensen. His first designs - a collection of necklaces and bracelets inspired by whale vertebrae and microscopic organisms - were groundbreaking in their imagination and modernity. For the next three decades he proceeded to work in silver hollowware, flatware and watches as well as jewellery. Koppel always started with drawings or watercolours and his artwork itself forms an exceptional collection: indeed Koppel referred to himself as a silver artist.

By the time of his death in 1981, Koppel's name was synonymous with Danish Design. Ranging from everyday products such as his famous 'New York' cutlery set to the exceptional iconic silver pitchers and fish dish, his work continues to inspire and appeal.

MARIA BERNTSEN

The belief that good design should be simple, harmonious and well-conceived is central to Maria Berntsen's work. However she also loves to add an element of humour to her products and the results have a timeless quality whilst bringing a smile to your face.

Born in 1961, Maria Berntsen trained at the Academy of Art in Copenhagen before finishing her studies at the L'Ecole d'Architecture de Bordeaux. She opened her own studio straight after and started collaborating with Georg Jensen in 2000. Turning her talents to a wide range of products, Maria has produced some of the house's best loved pieces - from the ever popular Christmas Classics Advent and Season candlesticks to the charming Beak collection. Functional but quirky, her work continues to stand the test of time.

OKI SATO

Oki Sato, Japanese designer born in Toronto, Canada in 1977. In 2002 M.A. in Architecture, Waseda University, Tokyo. In the same year Oki Sato opened the architecture and design firm Nendo, of which he is Chief Designer in Tokyo.

Nendo (the Japanese word for children's modeling clay) is a multi-disciplinary design and architecture group.

Oki Sato is internationally renowned for his multi-faceted approach, which spans from graphic design to product design, and from architecture to the creation of installations.

SANNE LUND TRABERG

Danish designer Sanne Lund Traberg graduated from the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts before embarking on a career path that brought her to Danish companies like Lego and Georg Jensen. At Georg Jensen she was a design manager and involved in designing a range of successful product line extensions.

As a designer Sanne Lund Traberg adds a contemporary and abstract expression to everyday objects while injecting a touch of historic references in the process. Her universe is graphical and sophisticated, and deeply rooted in Scandinavian design traditions.

Believing that a 'hands on' approach gives her the best results, she painstakingly starts with paper, pencil and scalpel, cutting and drawing prototypes until proportion and detail are fully resolved.

SEBASTIAN HOLMBÄCK

Danish based Studio Sebastian Holmbäck prides itself on their quintessentially Scandinavian approach to design.

The functionality of a product is never sacrificed but the importance of good looks and an emotional connection to the user is also never forgotten. Originally part of the Holmbäck-

Nordentoft duo that created Georg Jensen's much-loved Cafu collection, Holmbäck's work ranges from furniture and lighting to tableware and accessories.

SEBASTIAN HOLMBÄCK & ULRIK NORDENTOFT

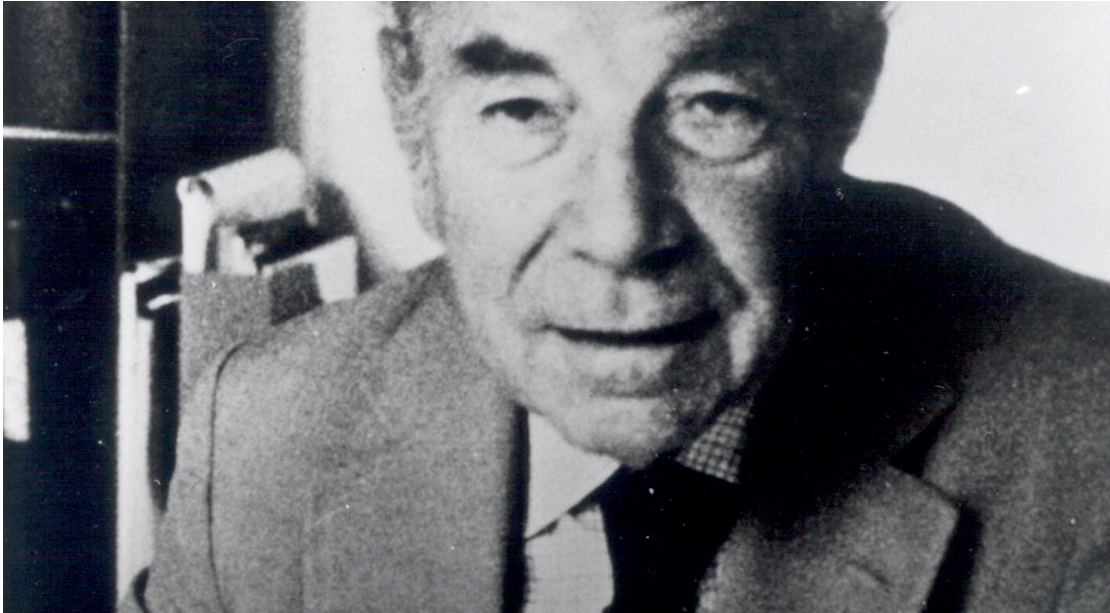

Design duo Sebastian Holmbäck and Ulrik Nordentoft strive to evoke an emotional response to their design work. Whilst always sticking to a minimalist Scandinavian aesthetic, they have applied their talents to a wide range of products from furniture and lighting through to interiors and kitchenware. This has resulted in a wide field of expertise.

Sebastian Holmbäck (b 1971) and Ulrik Nordentoft (b 1974) initially met whilst studying at the Danish Design School. They both pursued successful individual careers before joining forces a decade later to work together on a series of design projects.

The HolmbäckNordentoft philosophy is to let their work generate excitement and meaningfulness, arguing that this is a way to inspire loyalty and affection in the end consumer. They have worked on a very diverse range of products and this has given them a wider understanding of the design process. The end results are durable, functional and aesthetically pleasing products.

SIGVARD BERNADOTTE

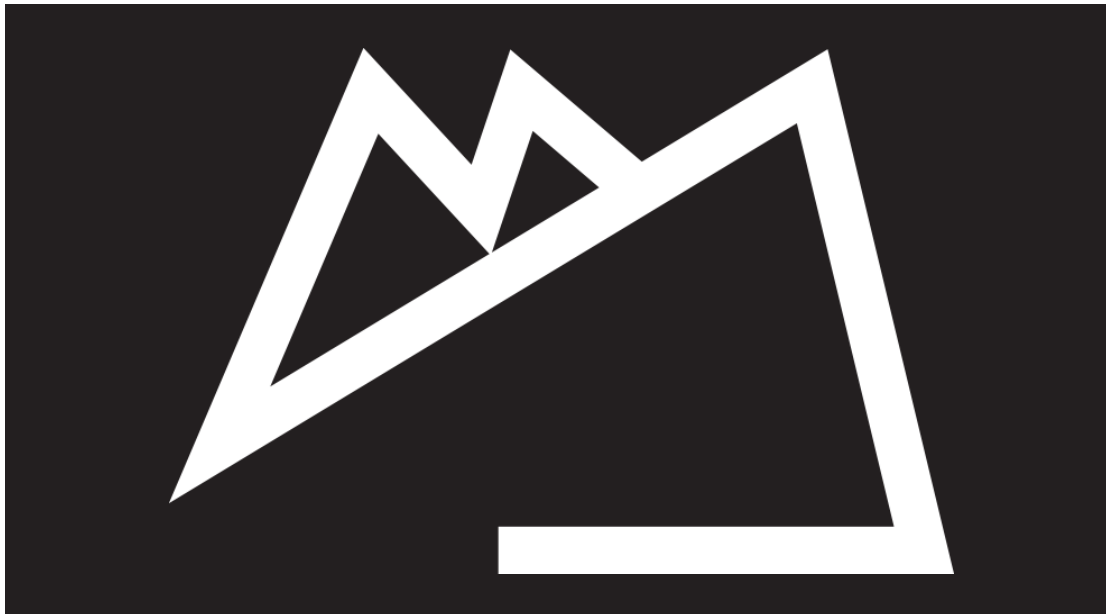

Born into the Swedish royal family, Prince Sigvard Bernadotte was one of Georg Jensen's most successful and popular collaborators. Influenced by the functionalist movement, his elegant and sophisticated designs helped modernise the world of silver craft.

Born in 1907, Prince Sigvard Bernadotte was trained at Stockholm's Royal Art Academy. He was greatly influenced by an exhibition of Gunnar Asplund in 1930 which marked the breakthrough of functionalism in design and this aesthetic governed his subsequent long collaboration with Georg Jensen. His sleek and sparingly-decorated work was in stark contrast to the ornamentation of earlier silver craft and this modernity was a perfect match for the new fun-loving society of the time. The fact that his pieces still resonate with today's generations is a testament to his skill and the reason he has a firm place in the history of Scandinavian design.

SNØHETTA

Truly one of the world's most influential and highly regarded design studios, Norwegian-based Snøhetta work on products as diverse as architecture, landscapes, furniture and graphics.

Using a collaborative and multi-disciplinary approach, Snøhetta have worked on projects such as the Oslo Opera House, Under - Europe's first underwater restaurant, the Alexandria Library in Egypt and the World Trade Centre Memorial site in New York City. Despite being characterised by a clean Scandinavian aesthetic, the results have an international appeal that reflects a sensitivity to location and surroundings.

SØREN GEORG JENSEN

Design was in Søren Georg Jensen's blood - after all, his father was the legendary Georg Jensen himself. Using his training as a sculptor along with the heritage of his family, Jensen carved his own place in the history of Danish design with his controlled functionalist lines and strong visual sense.

Born in 1917, Jensen was initially trained as a silversmith by his own father, and then enrolled at the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts to study sculpture. Influenced greatly by post-war European functionalism, Jensen's large scale work is found in many public places across Copenhagen, often characterised by its abstract geometric form. From 1962 to 1974 he took over his father's role by becoming Artistic Director at Georg Jensen where he not only created both holloware and jewellery but also inspired a whole new generation of designers, therefore becoming himself an important element of the company's history.

THOMAS SANDELL

Trained architect Thomas Sandell has also turned his talents to a number of other fields including product design and advertising. His work is defined by its intelligence and sophistication imbued with a bold and daring edge.

Born in 1959, Thomas Sandell graduated from the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm and set up a creative agency with two partners, integrating architecture, product design and advertising. His collaboration with Georg Jensen centres around bar ware, with an elegant collection that celebrates the passion and enjoyment of fine wine. Fully understanding the rituals and complexities required in such products, he nevertheless brings a strong design element that adds an extra dimension to functional pieces.

VERNER PANTON

Based at the company headquarters in Copenhagen, the Georg Jensen design team continues the house reputation for innovative work. By understanding heritage, function, uniqueness and quality, they respect the legacy of the company whilst pushing it forward and making it relevant for today's consumers.

The starting point for all design work at Georg Jensen is researching the archives but it is the job of the team to rework and develop the house style into something new, modern and exciting. For example classic Jensen motifs or the architectural lines of Art

Deco are abstracted and developed into new collections that appeal to a contemporary audience. However, most importantly, the team never loses sight of their responsibility towards Scandinavian design, craftsmanship and innovation through collaboration.

VIVIANNA TORUN BÜLOW-HÜBE

Strong-minded, unconventional and forward-thinking, Vivianna Torun Bülow-Hübe epitomises the Georg Jensen design philosophy. Seeing the beauty in functionality and celebrating natural forms and gemstones were all central to Vivianna's approach to design.

Born in Malmö Sweden in 1927, Vivianna graduated from Stockholm's prestigious Academy of Industrial Arts before becoming the first female silversmith to open her own workshop in Sweden. In 1956 she moved to Paris and in 1967 she started her collaboration with Georg Jensen. Always following her motto that it is vital 'to be, not to seem', her life and her approach to work were unconventional and entirely modern and this is reflected in her innovative jewellery.

Throughout her upbringing, Vivianna's mother had shared with her a love for nature and this led to an appreciation of gemstones and influenced her design philosophy. She firmly believed jewellery should not overwhelm the wearer: 'It should enhance and move with the body so that it blends with you'. She was also convinced that 'what is functional is also beautiful' and so she loved the practical and the often overlooked (a fastening or lock for example, or a humble but beautiful pebble on the beach).

She felt that her work should have a timeless quality - both in the sense that it could be worn by someone of any age but also in that good design and quality should last forever. Consequently, her jewellery looks as modern and as relevant now as it ever did.
